L. Title 79 Review

1. Chapter 3

Director Urbanek stated LB1241 struck the language of accepting a reciprocity candidate anyone who was a federal law enforcement officer or anyone who was a military police officer. It only included those who were certified in another state.

Assistant Chief Jackson asked Director Urbanek about the test that would be used.

Director Urbanek responded that the current version of the basic comprehensive written exam will be used for the reciprocity exam until such time that a new exam can be developed. She added that the instructional staff developed a study guide for this exam.

Assistant Chief Jackson stated that was brought forward last meeting as our recommendation for this meeting is it still on your agenda?

Deputy Director Stephenson stated that had been completed, it was done as directed, the initial study guide was done, yes.

Director Urbanek stated section 004.05A(2) outlined the process, for the physical fitness test or PRET. They can take their choice of either the physical fitness test or the PRET, but are not allowed to switch, they stay on the platform they start with all the way through. If they fail and the test is not passed on the retake, they will need to come to the next scheduled basic class. If they pass the physical, then they take the written examination and by that afternoon they will know what their scores are and if they have passed the course, they will be issued their Nebraska certification.

MOTION

Assistant Chief Jackson motioned for the Council to accept revisions to Chapter 3 of Title 79 striking the language in 004.05C specific to the 70% comparability. Chief Hogue seconded the motion. Roll Call in favor of the motion; Chief Hogue, Assistant Chief Jackson, Chief Deputy London, Mr. McCarthy, Captain Thomas, Chief Wolf, Sheriff Osmond, Sergeant Bolzer, Lieutenant Colonel Duis. Motion passed unanimously.

Chief Wolf suggested adding "the" to section 004 General to read "as one of the" status categories.

Assistant Chief Brian Jackson, Chief Deputy London, Mr. McCarthy, Captain Thomas, Chief Wolf, Sheriff Osmond, Sergeant Bolzer Lieutenant Colonel Duis, Chief Hogue. Motion passed unanimously.

Motion passed unanimously.

VI. OTHER BUSINESS

Lieutenant Colonel Duis spoke with the Council about reviewing the state exam that had almost become a heartbeat away from being the mandatory licensing exam for all law enforcement in this state. I would like to see us ask Executive Director Arp, through a formal motion, or assign another entity or individuals to conduct a full review of the entire process from the beginning as to how we got within a meeting or within, my opinion, a heartbeat of it becoming the law of the land.

Mr. Stolz stated it needed to be set as an agenda item with defined parameters so it can be debated by the Council.

Sergeant Bolzer stated I would have to say historically I am not aware of what occurred before I came on PSAC, but we approved this test as the reciprocity test until otherwise. Is that the proper test to be using for Reciprocity if it's Director Urbanek stated after the test was not approved, we began to develop the Reciprocity exam. Mark's staff looked at all the questions that were used. There was a software glitch, and it was using the same questions every time. The instructors went through those questions and said, it wasn't quite their material and removed questions that didn't necessarily meet their job task objectives the way it was taught at this academy, so the test was cleaned up and any of those questionable questions were removed. It is now very specific. Mark's team did a great job doing the job task with the objectives and content; that's how they did the study guide.

To address the concern about this being a bad test to use for Reciprocity. The test underwent a thorough mining by the people who teach the material in the state's academy to ensure those questions are consistent, do meet the tasks and address the objectives so that question I can answer today.

Chief Deputy London asked Director Urbanek, earlier maybe I didn't hear you right, the future Reciprocity exam, you want that test to be Nebraska specific?

Director Urbanek stated yes.

Chief Deputy London: This one is not Nebraska specific?

Director Urbanek stated it was in terms of general law enforcement. There will be questions dealing with traffic stops.

Deputy Director Stephenson stated yes it was basic traffic stops, building searches, in the future discussions we've had the Reciprocity test we'll be more in line with the old study guide you will use your statute book, no Nebraska laws, then there are some very specific things like Nebraska is a third-party liability state. EDP and some of the DUI or DV differences that will be focused on but as far as practical it could be application parts wouldn't be on the test. We kept those in the test to have enough questions to have a Reciprocity exam. It is consistent with materials we're teaching here. When we made the study guide, it was gone through twice by the instructors, once by myself, as well as Ms. Sample if this is the question, here is the answer, it's in this content. So, if you study the study guide, that's what the test is. We did go through those test questions to make sure they were consistent with what we were doing. The use of this test is just a bridge, till we can get someone to do another Reciprocity examination for us, which was funded by part of the legislation. Once that's done, it will look different.

Executive Director Arp stated from the budget standpoint, we'll build a wall around April 22nd we got the appropriation vetted for an exam to be ready the 1st of July, since it was over the $45,000 threshold for purchasing. We would have had to conduct an RFP interview where we would have somebody from outside construct an exam for us. Then there is award the contract, deal with all that then review their work, there wasn't time to be able to get all the procurement loopholes to be able to expend that appropriation once we got it because there was an emergency clause attached to the appropriation.

Sergeant Bolzer stated he was approaching this fresh so the concerns on the questions for the reciprocity test, is that equally concerning towards the academy graduation, meaning were the questions validated to what we're teaching, apparently some of those questions really weren't part of that maybe. Because since that I understand what you have done for Reciprocity but historically were some of those questions not so validated and since were not teaching that.

Mr. Stephenson stated when we review the tests, we receive the tests in preparation for the Reciprocity exam and that's what we're going to make the bridge and the instructors review it and we start looking at some of the material and it was not consistent with what we taught in the example that rises to the top first. For example, for EPC, the person is a danger to himself, others or property. In the State of Nebraska property is not a consideration, but that is how the test question was written and if they said no to that, it was wrong. There were some of those questions that were there that we got rid of or we modified, in some of those cases all we had to do was take property out and then we could go in and change the answer, and now it's consistent and those were some of the changes we made.

Director Urbanek stated unfortunately the software was not randomly selecting questions, so the questions that were used for those two and a half years were the same questions. We had failures on the test but not failures on the retakes of the test.

Chief Deputy London asked how many questions were on the test?

Mr. Stephenson stated there were 307 questions on the test and we are down to 140.

Director Urbanek questioned how many of the 140 were in the previous version of the test?

Mr. Stephenson stated in the previous version they were never rotated through. They were in the bank, but because of the computer glitch they never got switched and used, it's my understanding there was a good chunk of those that were used because my question to my staff was, how did people pass this? If you guys are fine with this, and it was, there were a lot of these that were used, that's how they passed the test.

Sheriff Osmond stated we need an agenda item for the next meeting to ask if the board feels it's necessary to further this discussion and ask for a review.

Sergeant Bolzer stated I am new to the table, but what responsibility does the academy have, protocol in place, when there are test questions that are invalid, how are we notified of that?

Lieutenant Colonel Duis stated realistically we got lucky there was a glitch in the system and x number of questions that happen to be right. If this would have got passed and quite honestly, we all know this was a heartbeat away and if this thing goes out and if the rotation does finally start to take place, everybody in here is going to be impacted by this test and how did we get to that and nobody had come to the realization that were these questions ever invented by anybody in this state that involved law enforcement, were they invented by instructors, did instructors ever look at this and say well this isn't even what I teach. If it wasn't for the fact reciprocity came along and we said take a look at this thing maybe this is the bridge, which caused them to finally start to look at this. I don't know if any of us would have known that all of these students for the last three and a half years have been taking a test that may have or may not have been valid shape to perform. I think that I don't know how we get to truly the core issue and truly the root cause of this unless we know that this didn't start at the beginning. So yeah, I think an agenda item is what we need.
