

In Extremis Tactical Group Presents:

2 Day Advanced Tactical Carbine

Law Enforcement and Active Duty Military Only

Cedar Valley Hunt Club - Stanton, NE

September 22-23 2020

THIS IS A SHOOTING AND TACTICS COURSE.

The ability to respond effectively in a rapidly evolving tactical encounters is largely determined not by ones' previous training, but by their primal response to that particular threat and how they perceive it at that point in time. This course recognizes limitations that traditional "one way, flat range" theory based training that has been the norm in Law Enforcement for decades.

This "Behaviorally based" course will attempt to match the proper Neuro-muscular skill to the context of each physical drill, scenario, etc. It guarantees a challenge to all comers. Gunfights are won and lost in milliseconds. The ability to rapidly assess, discriminate and apply the fundamentals under duress are significant factors in prevailing in any combative environment. This course will take the end user beyond simply shooting fundamentals and teach the student how to think critically and problem solve while fighting with a rifle or carbine and how it should be employed in short to intermediate range battle areas that the operator may find themselves in. This course is physically demanding.

Course TUITION : $265.00

To register call Mark and Traci Christiansen - Cedar Valley Hunt Club at – 402-439-5400 or for more information email Devin@inextremistactical.com or call 402-598-0639

(ONLY 16 SPOTS AVAILABLE)

Course Content:

- Combat Zeroing 50-200 Yards (engagement drills to 300 plus yards)
- Marksmanship principles and fundamentals
- Field Lecture on Context, Human Nature, Proof and how they relate to Flat range drills
- Review of Weapon manipulations for fighting with a carbine
- Point shooting Module for Handgun and Carbine
- Maximizing Complex Environments - Building artificial support positions for shots on demand
- Timed Positional Shooting “Run and Gun drills” - varied distances
- Diagnostic approach to weapon stoppages, Immediate, Remedial and Corrective actions
- Fight sustainability methods / Reloads and Transitions
- Theory of Dynamic Lateral Movement and Application
- Behaviorally based use of Cover
- Dynamic fighting drills for solo and 2 man teams
- Gunshot Wound care under fire lecture, demo, and drills
- Vehicle Fighting Tactics to include: Bails out and Counter Ambush methods

Required Equipment:

Magazine fed - carbine or rifle e.g. AR15, M4

Tactical Sling for Rifle/ Carbine

700 Rounds of Rifle Carbine ammo

Min 3 Magazines for rifle or carbine (more is better)

Serviceable Handgun - 3 magazines for handgun

150 rounds of handgun ammo

Holster for handgun

Method for carrying magazines/ support equip.

Body armor and Load out/response equipment

Small Pack for shooting off or Small lightweight shooting bag/s.

Proper range attire

Brimmed hat

Eye and Ear protection

Water and Sack lunch (We will not break for extended lunch. (We want to maximize range time and down time will be minimal).

Optional :

Detachable Bi-pod

Rear Sand Sock, bag

Knee pads (Highly recommended)

Shooting mat

Sunscreen

Camera/recording devices

Note taking material

About In Extremis Tactical Group LLC

Devin Crinklaw – Director of Training, Senior Trainer

Crinklaw is a 24 year veteran of Law Enforcement and is currently employed by a metropolitan police department where he has served in Uniformed Patrol and the Gang Unit. He spent 7 years as a full time Police Academy Instructor where he designed, implemented and oversaw the entire Firearms and Tactics Curriculum for his department to include Counter Ambush Tactics, Active Shooter Response and Behavior Based Close Quarters Battle (Limited Penetration CQB) and the Joint Rescue Task Force.

Crinklaw, is a 14 year veteran former member of his department's SWAT Team, where he served as a primary firearms and tactics trainer for his team, assaulter, and a founding member of the Explosive Breaching Cell. Crinklaw's research and experience has had a significant effect on the design of tactics related to CQB and are approached with the study of effects of human behavior on performance during High risk activities. Crinklaw's breadth of skills and knowledge have been proven many times over to our law enforcement, military, and civilian communities. Crinklaw also serves as a Senior Patrol Rifle Instructor for his Department and is considered a Court Recognized expert on Use of Force.

www.inextremistactical.com